Mike Garrett leads Jack Okell and Daryl Hibberd up the extremely tough Ballavagher Hill in Thursday's Foxdale Six road race JW160818(5)

Women's 'half' series No Rest winner Lisa Dunwell JW160818(25)

Onchan resident Matthew David was unbeaten in the marathon section of last week's No Rest For the Wicked series. Jayne Farquhar race-walked two of the events, but was still the leading female overall JW160814(210 & 294) ry of Anna-Maria Cutillo. It is 31 years next week since Anna-Maria died in a tragic motor vehicle accident near to Mount Murray. The promising young athlete was 19 at the time.

The event includes the extremely tough Ballavagher climb from the Hope to the Lhoobs Road junction, where Mike Garrett led Jack Okell by a slender margin, with Daryl Hibberd close behind in third.

Okell, 20, soon to start his final year at Lancaster University, edged clear of over-45 athlete Garrett in the closing stages on the return leg from Eairy Dam to the finish close to Foxdale School.

At the line, he had a winning margin on 12 seconds in 34m 27s, but, more significantly as far as the overall NRFW series was concerned, was a full 59 seconds clear of Englishman Hibberd in third.

Western AC's Marty Kneen ran very strongly for fourth, well clear of Paul Rodgers and full-marathon series leader Matthew David.

Lisa Dunwell consolidated her lead in the women's contest with 13th place on the night, half-a-minute in front of Kirsty Arnold. Adam Cowin was the leading race walker in 37th place overall with a time of 48m 51s.

ANNA-MARIA CUTILLO FOXDALE SIX

A near-identical number of athletes contested the following evening's six-mile road race over a testing course in the Foxdale/Hope area.

Such was the interest and subsequent issues at registration that there was a 20-minute delay to the start of the event, hosted annually by Manx Harriers in memo-
